Report Deadline Extended, Engineers Prepare for 4 Days of Nothing

By Frank Goodfellow

The Thanksgiving Long Weekend couldn't have come at a better time. It seems like things are really looking up for the sorry souls stuck in Thorn. With the recent news of a report deadline extension, 3rd year Mechs are enjoying the 5th Saturday in a row of no expectations. To top things off, this weekend is a long weekend! With no classes the following Monday and Tuesday, and no labs for the rest of the week, this is basically a vacation! Things couldn't be better for this lucky little cohort. I'm sure this time of relaxation won't catch up to anyone the week of the 20th which has 4 midterms.

Loud Annoying Bike Alarm Pisses Off O'SNAP Editor

By Frank Goodfellow

Picture this. You ride your silly little bicycle to Thorn on a sunny weekday morning. You roll up to the bike rack and gently put you bike next to the others in the rack. Suddenly, you're struck with this agitating and concerning alarm from right beside you. You now realize that you've set off a shitty alarm that someone has put on their bike. Everyone in a 10km radius is no looking at you thinking 'this guy is a felon' and you just have to play it off.

Now, imagine that this happens to you AGAIN. Same thing the very next day. At this point you've got no aura left and people think you're some second hand bike thief. Then today, I arrive and I DIDN'T EVEN TOUCH THE DAMN RACK. This alarm goes off if you even look at it. It behaves like that one person who argues with the prof during lectures. JUST SHUT UP.

If you own this bike and its cute little screaming alarm, I just wanna talk.

Corn Roast Photo Dump

By Franklin Goodfellow

If you were under a rock recently, I'm here to tell you what you missed out on at Corn Roast. More or less, this years Corn Roast was a darn good time. I'll get the big upset out of the way which was that the wait for food was a bit long, but that's about it. Everything else though? Pretty fucking awesome. Tickets sold out so there was a proper crowd of engineers in a good mood. For drinks, the beers and ciders were flowing and you could definitely get your moneys worth. As for the music, band was pretty incredible and kept the tunes going all night long. The night was beyond good but don't take my word for it, check out these photos of engineers in their natural habitat.

Stressed about midterms? Engineering got you down? Look no further for a fun fall activity! Participate in the fall season bingo, first person to check off all the squares gets my phone number.

Wait in the Starbucks line for 70 minutes 	Host a friendsgiving to varying degrees of success 	Receive a look of pity when you tell someone you're in engineering 	Switch teams (you know what I mean) 	Drink 1,630,902 ciders
Cook pasta for yourself in the middle of the night. Yum! 	Listen to the bus drivers yell "All the way to the back folks!" 	Go through an intense biking to school phase 	Overhear "I definitely failed that" as you leave a midterm 	Go to a party to meet people and only talk to the 3 people you came with
Worry for your safety with the Guelph Jizzer and Pisser loose 	Watch the Wellness Lounge get shut down yet again 	Fall Core Bingo 	Resist the urge to download a dating app (again) 	Experience a hot, slightly musty think tank aroma at exactly 3 PM
Get hit by a Physical Resources truck 	Pretend to care about the October 3rd meme 	Carve something inappropriate into a pumpkin 	Enjoy your one day Fall Reading Week! 	Watch class attendance drop faster than the leaves outside
See the first years get conned into buying way too much Hoco merch 	Develop a questionable crush on your professor 	Wonder why first years have a fascination with shopping carts 	Prepare for your midterm by copying down the solutions 	Audition for the Engineering Musical

To Be Frank, Issue #3: Finding Joy

By Franklin Goodfellow

To Be Frank is this years version of an editorial. I (Frank) have set aside time every other week to enjoy a beer at Brass Taps and write about whatever is on my mind.

The time has come. It is now midterm season and the post-hoco clarity is hitting, like a harsh sun poking through the clouds of brain fog. This part of the semester is a real slippery slope I find. All the work you did or didn't do for the past 4 weeks is starting to have an impact on you. If you're like me, you're counting the days until the long weekend, saying that all your problems will magically disappear come Friday. This sounds like I am about to start talking about how to avoid this ugly cycle that seems to always happen, but I'm not. It's not possible. If you think you know someone that has everything under control they're lying (or should just shut up). Instead I've decided it would be more valuable to write about how to cope with this onslaught of rage inducing schoolwork. Not to sound like an old man, but it seems dangerously easy for people to spend the time they aren't doing work wasting it on their phone. Don't get me wrong, I love good game of Clash Royale, but its not gonna make my day by any means. For me, its usually more rewarding when I seek out doing things that make me happy, and not things that just distract me from all the work I have to do. Its easy to confuse the two though, especially when it seems like doing anything other than a lab report would make you happy. Its important to stay mindful of what you're actually doing though. No one should expect sunshine and rainbows when their study breaks consist of losing to a hog rider for the 15th time on Clash Royale. Go for a walk, get dinner with your friends, write an O'SNAP article, try something new. I'm not saying give yourself more things to do, but take time to find more joy in heat of the semester that makes your days better. Good luck on midterms everyone!

Beer of Paper #3: Wellington Helles Lager

I had a bunch of this at Corn Roast for the first time, so not really a genuine review. I was pretty blitzed but my honest takeaway was that it was just another lager. I think the main issue I had with it was that it wasn't cold enough. I may circle back to this one as I am currently looking at kegs on the Wellington Brewery website.

Biological

You may be faced with a large negative aura this week. Perhaps the owner of the couch you woke up on this past Sunday morning. Look for forgiveness and acceptance the next few days.

Biomedical

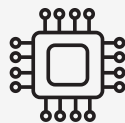

Look for opportunities this week and open yourself up to invitations. Re-download hinge and see if there's something good out there. Remember that cuffing season is right around the corner.

Mechanical

Pull up your pants and ACTUALLY lock in this time. Just make it to the weekend and you can get ahead over the break. Just to the weekend. Two days. So easy. You got this.

Computer

Take charge of life this week. Take the first step and make the first move. Maybe try attending an 8:30 or two. Maybe not.

Mechatronics

You may find yourself being called upon by others this week. Be cautious when answering any late night texts, these typically don't pan out well later in the year. Trust me.

Water Resources

Take time to be joyous this week. Quite honestly you should be thrilled! It's gonna rain like 4 times this week. You love that stuff.

deAR BUNSEN...

Have a question you're too scared to ask your professors, classmates, housemates, or parents? Ask your friend Bunsen - rich in experience (and wit). No question is too unusual or outlandish. Just don't come running back crying if the answer isn't what you expected. The truth can be a hard pill to swallow.

Dear Bunsen.

I write an advice column in my local student newspaper but am not getting many submissions. Does nobody need advice these days??

Sincerely Nubnes

Dear Bunsen,

My design 2 group is the most impressively incompetent group of people I've ever seen. Two of them can't even make a cube in SolidWorks.

-Pedro

Dear Pedro,

It's important to remember that not everyone is in mech. Even if the other disciplines can't model something, they at least know what a woman looks like.

Bunsen, Clairo Listener

Scan me

Dear Bunsen,

I'm worried someone spiked one of my 8 beers, 5 shots and 2 cutwaters during hoco. I woke up not remembering anything and felt terrible. Should I suspect my own friends??

Signed, John Doe

Dear Wise and Presumably Attractive Advice Giver,

Consider telling your editor to create a social media account and online submission form to add engagement.

Best, Bunsen

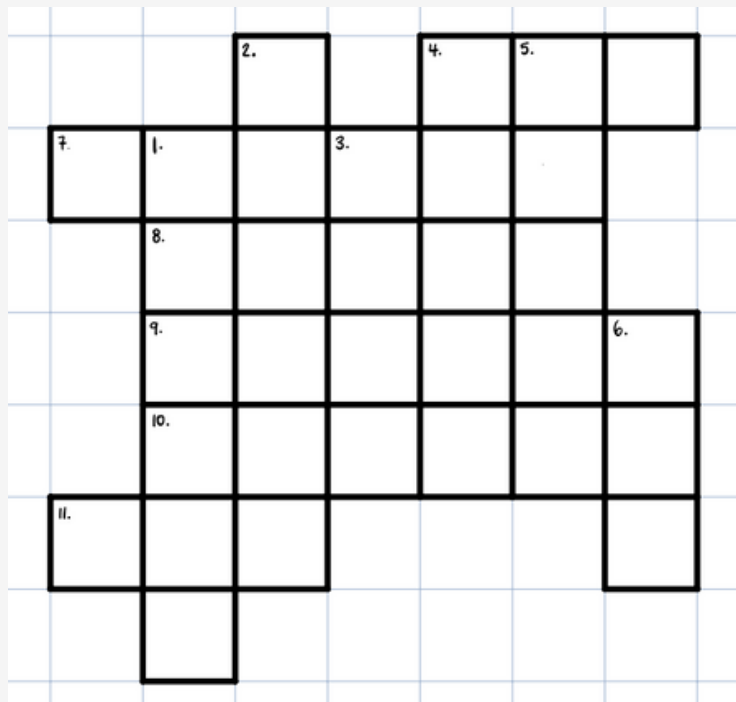

Dear Mr. Doe,

I think you need to do some self reflection this week. Maybe call you mom and drink some water pal.

From, Bunsen
